FOREWORD

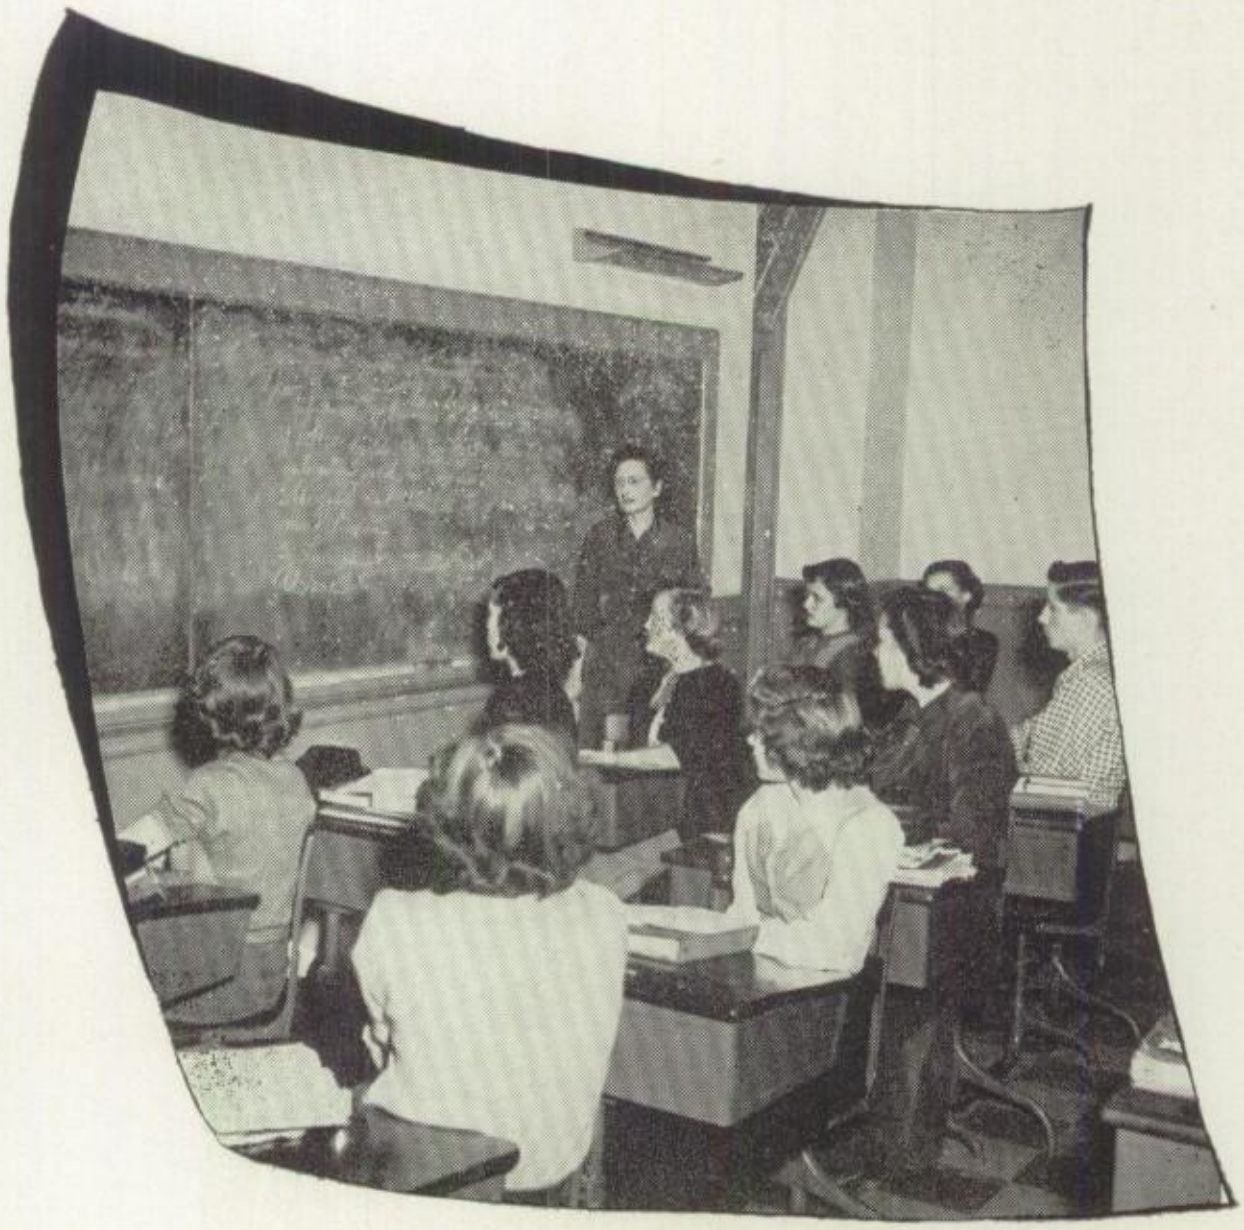
Foreword

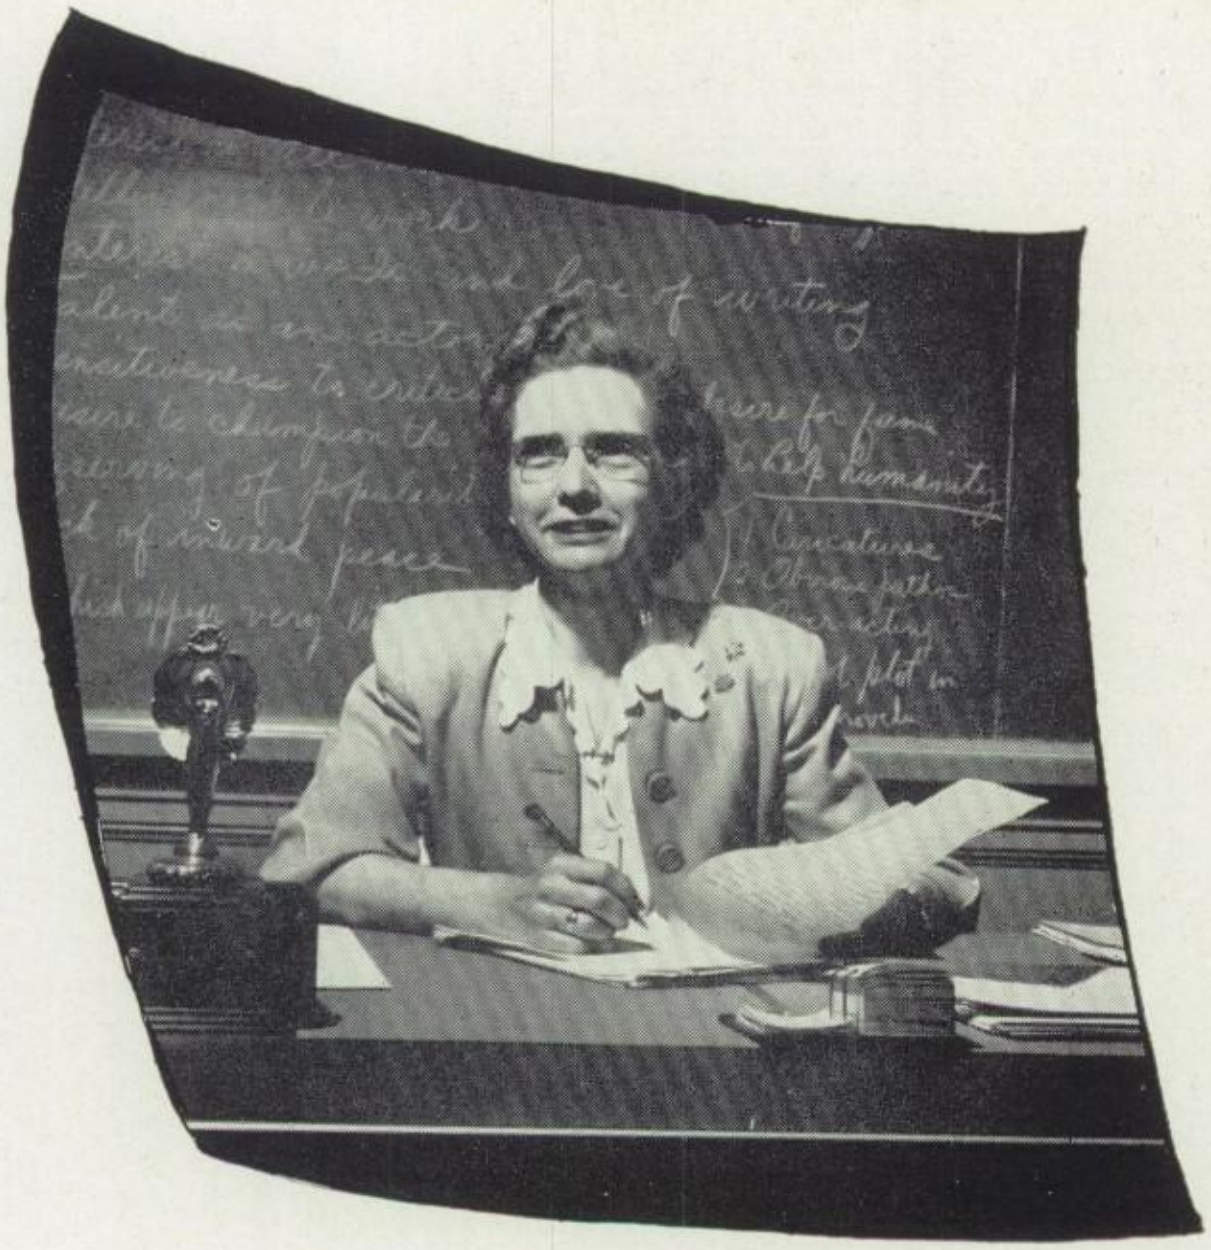
In our adventure through life may we pause for a backward glance down memory lane. Let's stroll back down the path a way retracing our steps.

Along the trodden path we find beloved things and see familiar sights that fill us with thrilling sensations of days gone by. Each step clears the mist of forgetfulness that clouds our memory until we can clearly recall the days of our high school careers—the happy days filled with the challenge of learning, the joy of pleasant experiences, and the sincere comradeship of our friends—the trying times when the requirements seemed unreasonable; the problems, unsolvable; the work, useless; and the disappointments, unbearable.

We can see now the meaning of our work, the growth resulting from our experiences, the value of true friendship, the truth of our teachers' wisdom, and the need for a thorough education.

Let's not pause too long in reflection, but turn again toward the uncertain path that lies before us. The way seems dark, but illuminated by the afterglow of the past and glorified by the brilliance of the present, our futures shall be bright and radiant.





Dedication

Indelibly impressed on the heart of every senior who goes out from L. H. S. into a bigger and more complicated world are the memories of those have who made it possible for him to go forward. Among these memories there is always one person who holds a supreme place; and who, because of her helpfulness, her untiring interest in all students, her diligent service in and out of school, and her devotion to LaGrange High School, will never be forgotten. Because of her all around personality, we sincerely and lovingly dedicate to our "most unforgettable character,"

Miss Lillian Clark

Our L. H. S. Home

Where Memories Linger

"L. H. S. of all the schools the best,
We love you, dear old L. H. S.
So fair and true, in all that you do,
Under your colors, the old white and blue;
You're as true as the blue of the heavens,
You're as pure as the white of the pearl,
So glory, glory to old L. H. S.
You're the best school in the world."

Greater than the memories of the beautiful architectural structure of our buildings will be the ones of the every day occurrences within and outside of their walls. This front view of the auditorium will always remind us of many hours spent in fun and inspiration, but most of all, of the highlighting feature of any high school career—graduation. "Our little home," the Home-Ec. Cottage, will bring back odors of "delicious" cooking and recollections of busy housekeeping. Last, but certainly foremost, we shall remember the familiar scenes, the memorable acquaintances among classmates and teachers, and the unforgettable lessons in the big building. All these memories will blend to make our days at L. H. S. an ever-permanent part of our lives.

Memories of Faculty

"The young forget quickly, true, but those who know how to capture their enthusiasm remain forever present in their hearts and their memories."

"White wondered whether it was whimsical to wear the white wig and whiskers." Shall we ever forget the difficulty we had making this distinction in enunciation? Because of our varying interests and talents, we have not all studied the same subjects in high school, but we have all studied English. Miss Clark hopes that as a result of our senior course we shall remember more than just the tongue twisters we read over the loud speaker; so in her honor let's practice what she teaches.

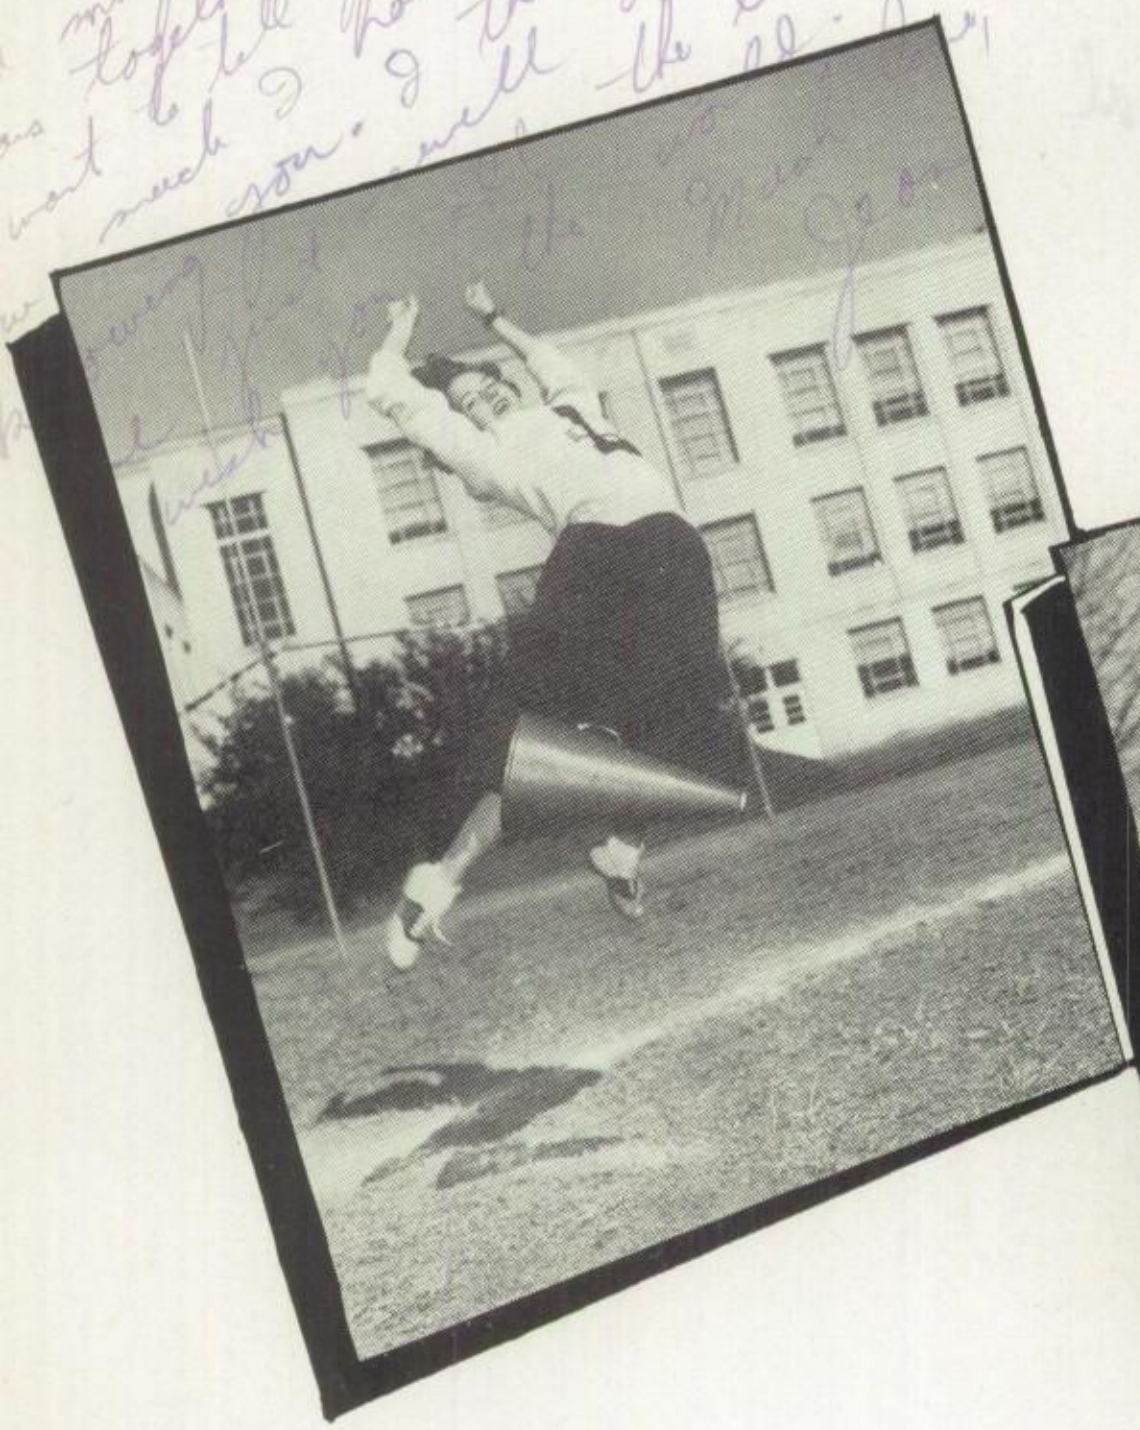
MR. AND MISS L. H. S.

Betty Finn

Bill Martin

It was inevitable that Bill and Betty be elected Mr. and Miss L.H.S. this year. Throughout their high school careers they have enshrined themselves in the hearts of students and faculty alike by their enthusiastic and successful participation in all phases of school activity, but, most of all, by their never failing devotion to L.H.S.

Senior Superlatives



MOST ATHLETIC GIRL

Jean Lester

When the Seniors voted for the most athletic girl, their natural hoice was Jean. She was a cheer-leader for four years and on the ennis team for one. Her liveliness, enthusiasm, good sportsmanship, nd never dying loyalty have endeared her to all . . . the cheering ection as well as the team.

FRIENDLIEST

Patsy Woodson — Bunky Kemp

The smiles and cheerful "hellos" of Patsy and Bunky have won for them a place in the hearts of L. H. S. students. No wonder, then, with such fine dispositions, their clasmates chose them as the friendliest. They really prove the truth in Emerson's statement, "To have a friend is to be a friend."

MOST TALENTED

Jeannine White — Laverne Poore

A musical program at L. H. S. just wouldn't have been complete without Laverne and Jeannine, our most talented of 1951. They both excelled in playing several types of musical instruments. Laverne's favorite was the bass fiddle, and Jeannine's was the trombone. We shall always remember these two very talented members of the class of '51.

MOST ATHLETIC BOY

Ferrill Lang

Ferrill, the most athletic boy of 1951, eagerly participated in many sports at L. H. S. He was co-captain of the football team and on the varsity basketball squad. He was elected, not only because of his ability as an athlete, but also because of his excellent sportsmanship at all times.

MOST BEAUTIFUL

Marie Wright

MOST HANDSOME

Eldon Duke

The best looking of 1951, Eldon and Marie, were elected by their classmates because they live up to the old saying, "Beauty is more than skin deep." They will always be remembered by their friends, not only for their physical appearance, but also for their ready smile and kind word for everyone.

MOST INTELLECTUAL

Bobby Combs — Sydney Cobb

In a senior class with so much brain power and determination, it was certainly a distinct honor to Bobby and Sydney to be chosen the most intellectual. They always inspired fellow class members to try harder to reach their standards of achievement.

After being in Mr. Keller's class for a few weeks, complicated scientific apparatus is no longer a puzzle to such students as Roger Flournoy and Margaret Kitchens. Here they look happy and interested as they distill water.

Juniors

A real tradition of Miss Legg's English classes is the presentation of Shakespeare's Macbeth. Juniors always enjoy the arranging, staging, and dramatization of two of the most famous sections of the play, the sleep-walking scene and the banquet scene. Here is one version of the banquet scene at the moment when Macbeth looks horrified upon the ghost of Banquo. Seated around the table are left to right: Thanes (noblemen) — Leroy Davis, Billy Goodwin, Paul Pruitt, Jack Strickland, and Roger Flournoy. Standing are Macbeth and Lady MacBeth, Ned Edge and Nancy Yates.

Miss Cora Richardson and American history will always be remembered by every L.H.S. graduate who has listened to her interesting stories behind the actual facts in the textbook and her gentle humor which enlivens her class periods. The smiles here seem to indicate that these pupils are enthusiastic about even such a thing as pointing out the Louisiana Territory by a cracker-jack student, Madge Evans.

The enthusiasm is just "bustin' out all over." They're registering and you've guessed it, "these are freshmen." This was a big and exciting event for each student, for on that day they took a big step toward growing up.

"Where do we go from here?" The poor freshmen loaded with books were at the height of their distress last fall as they wandered in and out of classrooms, just hoping that by chance they would land in the right one. The upper classmen, as a rule, were most helpful in giving directions from eight 'til four.

THE CLARION

Granger Editorial Staff

Nobody can say that these two don't know their job and aren't willing to work at it. What annual could ask for more than to be led by a smart gal like Patsy Woodson, Editor, and a clever boy such as Jerome Woodham, Associate Editor?

Here, some students who give their third period study time to the work of the annual carefully examine material, looking for suggestions for arrangements of pictures, themes, write-ups, and other ideas. They are, seated left to right: Helen Fokes, Jerome Woodham, Mary Ann Lee, Bill Coker, Guy Carter. Standing: Nancy Yates, Jean Lester, Mrs. Smith, Adviser, Patsy Woodson.

Your GRANGER editorial staff, a group of fun-loving, but very hardworking students, have devotedly spent their time in getting your book of memories ready for publication. They, too, will have memories—perhaps the greatest of all, because they are proud of having had a part in the creation of the 1950-51 GRANGER.

The business end of the annual was led enthusiastically by its officers. Left to right: Alice Traylor, Associate Business Manager; Betty Finn, Business Manager; Nancy Crozier, Advertising Manager.

Salesmanship and accuracy are the chief characteristics of the practical-minded people of the GRANGER Business Staff who have helped make the annual possible. Without them, there would be no money; and with no money, there could be no GRANGER; and with no GRANGER, how could our memories of L.H.S. be kept alive?

There is perhaps no better way to study journalism than to visit a news office itself. Here we have a group of students at the La-Grange Daily News composing room, watching the interesting work of a linotype machine operator. Standing, left to right: Edna Lester, Elinor Struletz, Mr. McDaniel, Jean Lester, Patsy Dennis. Seated: Dwight Harvey, Mary Ann Hadaway. Camera missed: Peggy Ann Greene.

Every member of the CLARION Staff does his share of the hard work necessary to turn out a good paper, but the following students are the ones who keep things running smoothly: Jax Smith, Editor; Helen Fokes, Associate Editor; Ruth Lehmann, Business Manager, and Mae Huie, Associate Business Manager.

We perform today the deeds which will be cherished memories of high school tomorrow. What we do today determines our tomorrow's dreams. The CLARION, under the faithful and helpful leadership of Miss Isma Swain, keeps a continuous record of our school days by publishing an informative paper each month. Seated, left to right: LaVerne Vowell, Barbara Harris, Runette Griffin, Miss Swain, Joyce Cooper. Standing: Nancy Yates, Ramona Denny, Peggy Lynch, Jack Caldwell, Kathryn Reyno.ds. Not in picture: Joyce Key, Betty Cleaveland, Marjorie Rogers.

"L" CLUB

Athletic memories, of which their schoolmates will long be proud, are contributed by the hard work of the "L" Club boys. Under the capable leadership of their beloved coaches, these boys learn many traits of good character and the lessons taught by victory and defeat. Even after their school days are over, they will have their school emblem to remind them of all they gained by participating in sport contests at L.H.S. First row, left to right: Buck Priester, Billy Waller, Ned Edge (Vice-president), Joe Meyer, Bill Price, Danny Sherrer, Ferrill Lang (President). Second row: Bobby Waugh, Barry Williams, Ted Prophett, Sidney Maddox, Sidney Tate, Harry Williams, Charles Harris. Third row: Charles Spates, Bert Crant, Bobby Combs, Gene Cronic, Joe Copeland, Tom Lipp, Wayne Austin, Lewis Price, Jr. (Secretary), Coach Hunnicutt. Not in picture: Richard Hyde (Treasurer).

Membership in the Key Club is a coveted honor at L.H.S., for the boys have to measure up to strict qualifications of leadership and scholastic ability. With the encouragement of their adviser, Mr. Mariotti, and their big brothers, the Kiwanians, they render many services to their school and community and secure training which will fit them for future citizenship. Happy is the girl who is chosen each year as "Sweetheart" of this club. First row, left to right: Ned Edge, Lewis Price, Jr. (Treasurer), Lamar Reese, Laverne Poore (Vice-president), Gary Keeble, Hugh Shelnutt. Second row: Mr. Mariotti (Adviser), Betty Finn (Sweetheart), Bill Martin (President), Bobby Waugh, Jax Smith, Ted Sammons, Bobby Joe McClendon (Secretary). Third row. Bill Price, Bobby Gunn, Vic Nelson, Charles Barrett, Dwight Harvey. Fourth row: Sidney Maddox, Bobby Combs, John Stewart.

KEY CLUB

Music

These girls, Janis Hunt and Gloria Gray, with Mrs. Keller's help, are practicing a duet to be given in chapel.

"There is nothing you can name, that is anything like a dame,"—so they sing; but we say that there is nothing like the L.H.S. quartet. Left to right are Betty Finn, accompanist, Fred Allen, Sidney Tate, Bill Martin, and Lewis Price.

"Music! Music! Music!" That's what they want and that's what they get in the Music Department of LaGrange High. All day long melodious (sometimes discordant) strains may be heard coming from the music wing. But nobody seems to mind, for eventually those strains develop into beautiful harmony.

Our band and chorus bring much pleasure to the student body and music lovers of LaGrange and the state by presenting, under Mr. Deal's leadership, concerts worthy of great praise.

The old saying "practice makes perfect," could easily be the motto of Mr. Deal and members of the chorus.

Memories

Leading the band onto the football field are our peppy majorettes, who help keep spirits high during the game, win or lose.

"They're off," and we don't mean maybe! With everything in a state of confusion and everyone in a state of excitement, Mr. Deal and outstanding members of the band prepare to leave for the band clinic in Macon. (P. S. We still don't know how they ever got that instrument in.)

In these pictures, the band members are on the stage in the auditorium getting ready for a concert. Because of Mr. Deal's expert directing they always approach curtain time with confidence.

ley, Timmons, Davis, Jackson, F. Allen, J. Jackson, J. Finn, Welborn, Hood, rne, Gray, Claxton, Noechel, L. Bryant, Harris, Spikes, Davison, Freeman, tchens, Hunt, Hall, E. Robinson, Ashmore, Johnston, Leverette, Langford, eer, Cleaveland, Tatum, Woodruff, Cullars. Fourth row: Templeton, Allman, ooks, Tate, Jenkins, Hunter, Walker, Walton, Herman, Brady, Swann, Bolt, picture: Rogers, White.

When this picture was taken, the members of the band were adding the finishing touches to their Christmas concert. When Mr. Deal waves that baton, they know what to do.

The Art Department

Putting the finishing touches on a dry boquet is Arnold Phillips, one of the second year art students. Busily engaged in recording their impressions of this bouquet on paper are Nicky Bryant and Billy Goodwin.

Because of the contribution of the Art Club, our building absorbed much of the true Christmas holiday atmosphere. Pictured there are Dottie Cullars and Carolyn Johnston finishing a bulletin board in the lobby, as Miss Owen and Mrs. Davis look on approvingly.

A newly organized and highly successful club at L.H.S. is the Art Club. Its members work on projects, not only for their own pleasure, but also for the enjoyment of the entire school. Mrs. Davis, with her enthusiasm and talent, has created an interest in the artistic among the students. Sitting, left to right: Anne Tyson, Aubrey Jackson, Jean Lester (President), Jayne Mozley. Standing: Hubert Reese, Edgar Thompson, Jane Evans, Hubert Jones, Stan Abercrombie (Secretary), Jo Ann Dye (Vice-president).

Future Homemakers of America

In this cozy scene by the fireside in the Home-Ec.-Cottage, the officers of the Future Homemakers of America gather to talk. In the years to come, each will think back over this experience and many others like it. Above are pictured Ramona Denney, President; Lanelle Bartley, Treasurer; and Betty Mann, Secretary. Seated are Miss Constance Day, and Janirtus Geter, Vice-president.

Scholastic achievement, commendable character, and loyalty to the school—these are the requirements for admission into the Beta Club. Any pupil who attains membership in the club at L.H.S. never forgets the effort necessary to experience the joy of belonging to this organization. In our store of memories, the Beta Club and Miss Chamlee will always rate tops. In future years we shall look for outstanding citizens in the persons of 1950-'51 Beta Club members.

Student Council

No one ever forgets the contribution which the Student Council, an organization comprised of one loyal, dependable student from each homeroom, makes to life at L.H.S. Under the kindly guidance of Miss Smithwick, these people accept their responsibilities with sincerity and zeal and, as a result of their good work, the true spirit of our school is constantly being made finer. First row, left to right: Woodson (President), Lester (Secretary), Stone. Second row: Lauderdale, Abercrombie, Bishop, Gunn. Third row: Miss Smithwick (Adviser), Vollenweider, Morgan, Legg. Fourth row: Mr. Lancaster, Adams, Maddox, Harvey, Hood. Fifth row: Phillips, Lipp, Webb, Pruitt. Sixth row: White, Middlebrooks.

In a chapel program as an installation service for new officers, the true meaning of the Red Cross with its five parts, representing tradition, hope, faith, love, and service, was presented in such a way that the student body will always remember the aims of the J.R.C. as it serves others. Here Alice Traylor, President of the 1949-50 Council, presents to Bill Price, President of the 1950-51 Council, the last square of the Red Cross. Looking on are Dwight Harvey and Virginia Hutchinson of the 1949-50 Council; Bob Philip, Secretary; Jerome Woodham, First Vice-president; Glennis Worley, Treasurer; Julia Hope Mills, Second Vice-president.

During biology lab and lecture classes when students are confused, Miss Harwell's clear explanations unravel their problems quickly. Such words as siphunculata, coleoptera and hypopharynx, which sound very strange to ears at the beginning of the year, become simple everyday talk under her direction. Any person who studies biology at L.H.S. will find through the years that life is richer and better.

Phy-Chem Club

Some of the students who take the higher courses of science—chemistry and physics—at L.H. S., meet with Mr. Keller in the Phy-Chem Club. They study and experiment with the latest scientific developments. First row, left to right: Woodson, Crozier (Vice-president), Hazel. Second row: Mr. Keller (Adviser), Stagg, Shelnutt, Kemp, Slaughter, Hodnett, Davison, Hester, Flournoy, Kitchens. Third row: Sammons (President), Bryant, Thompson, Griggs, Mosteller, Neill, Pruitt (Secretary). Fourth row: Harris (Treasurer), Fincher, Meyer, Proctor, Morgan. Not in picture: Lester.

Some of tomorrow's atomic scientists might come from our own physics, chemistry, and general science classes. The complicated instruments which these master-minds are trained to use dumbfound us ordinary folk, but the strange sounds and odors that result from their experiments dumbfound us even more. We are sure that in future years some of these students will bring honor to L.H.S. in the world of science.

General Science Club

French Club

Spanish Club

After two adventurers and explorers, Professor and Mrs. Frank E. Ackerman, carried the student body on a fascinating journey through the romantic lands and jungles of South and Central America, the members of the Spanish Club gathered around to try on costumes and inspect various tools, blankets, pieces of pottery, and animal skins. Having fun getting a close view of these interesting articles are first row, left to right: Traylor, Treadwell, Smith, Adcock, Davis. Second row: Terrell, Bennett, Bolt, Matthews, Turner, Miss Lucas (Sponsor), Evans, Tate, Harrison (President), Crane (Treasurer), Smith. Third row: Bonner, Newman, Foster, Daniel, Phillips, Hubbard, Jones, Hyatt, Bennet, Bryant, Greene (Secretary), Traylor, Woodson, Mrs. Ackerman, Struletz (Vice-president) Mr. Ackerman.

Junior Town Meeting

Latin Club

"Will the Latin Club please meet in the music room" is one of the many announcements which greets its members on Fridays. With Miss Smithwick as their adviser, these people not only increase their knowledge of Latin but have fun together. First row, left to light: Cook, Cullars, Walton, Herman, E. Robinson (President), Davison (Treasurer), S. Johnson (Secretary), McDonald (Vice-president), Hutchinson. Second row: Miss Smithwick (Adviser), Fort, Bell, White, Haynes, J. Fourth row: Bledsoe, McLaughlin, Spikes, Stewart, Cherry, Brady, Daniel, Smith, Fowler, McDaniel, Freeman, Higginbotham. Fifth row: Conway, Smith, Jones, Freeman, Knight, Shular, Phillips, Clark, B. Robinson, Middlebrooks, Adams.

. . . a sextet of Tri-Hi-Y girls who sang at church and on other occasions as a typical example of services rendered by the "Y" Clubs.

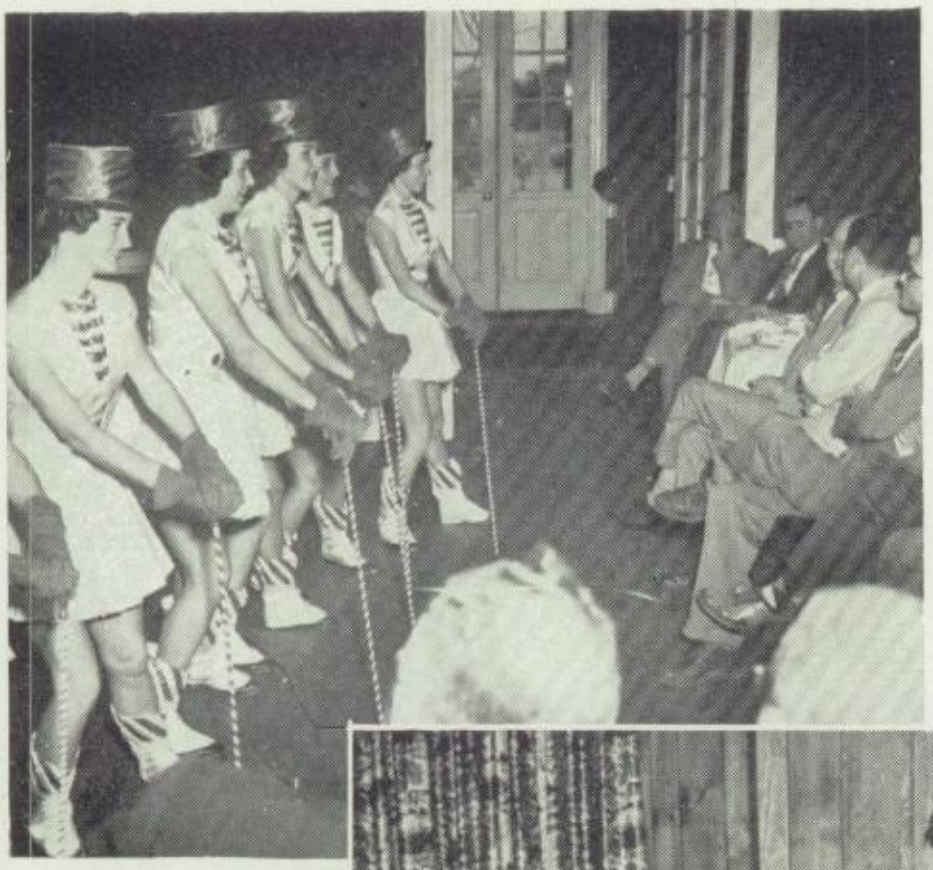
Teen Agers

Don't think Miss Chamlee is knitting because she is bored! Things really are exciting at the V.F.W. Teen-Ager Club on Tuesday evenings. Miss Chamlee, Miss Smithwick, and Miss Swain are the loyal sponsors. The officers, playing cards at the table, are: Betty Finn, Secretary; Bill Martin, Treasurer; Laverne Poore, President; and Jax Smith, Vice-president.

The photographer really caught these Granger Teen-Age folks "in the acts." The expressions are typical of the "card playing" set, the "shoot the bull" set, the "romancing while dancing" set, and the "tell me another that's not so corny" set.

The Home-Ec. square dance and costume party set all the teen-agers aflutter. This picture shows the hooded four-somes as they "do-see-doed" and circled round the room in a dizzy thrilling whirl.

Activities



Tap-Tap-Tap — Wide eyed spectators watch as these girls present a lively and colorful dance, "Candy Canes," as a part of the program sponsored by the Callaway Educational Association at the Christmas meeting of the Lions Club.

L. H. S. teen-agers always enjoy presenting programs for various civic clubs.

For entertainment, pleasure, and relaxation, Granger Teen-Agers play cards, dance, read or just sit and talk. These gay looking people are, left to right: Anne Smith, Ellen Higginbotham, Barbara Daniel, Ned Edge, Carolyn Herman, Dee Walton, Vic Nelson, Saynor Johnson, and Julian Freeman. The boots are unidentifiable.

Games are enjoyed but there is always a time left for refreshments. Cookies, cokes, and a wide variety of sandwiches are served to the Granger Teen-Agers by the able members of the V.F.W. Enjoying drinks here are Peggy Lynch, Othell Knight, Mary Ann Allman, and Jimmy Ogletree.

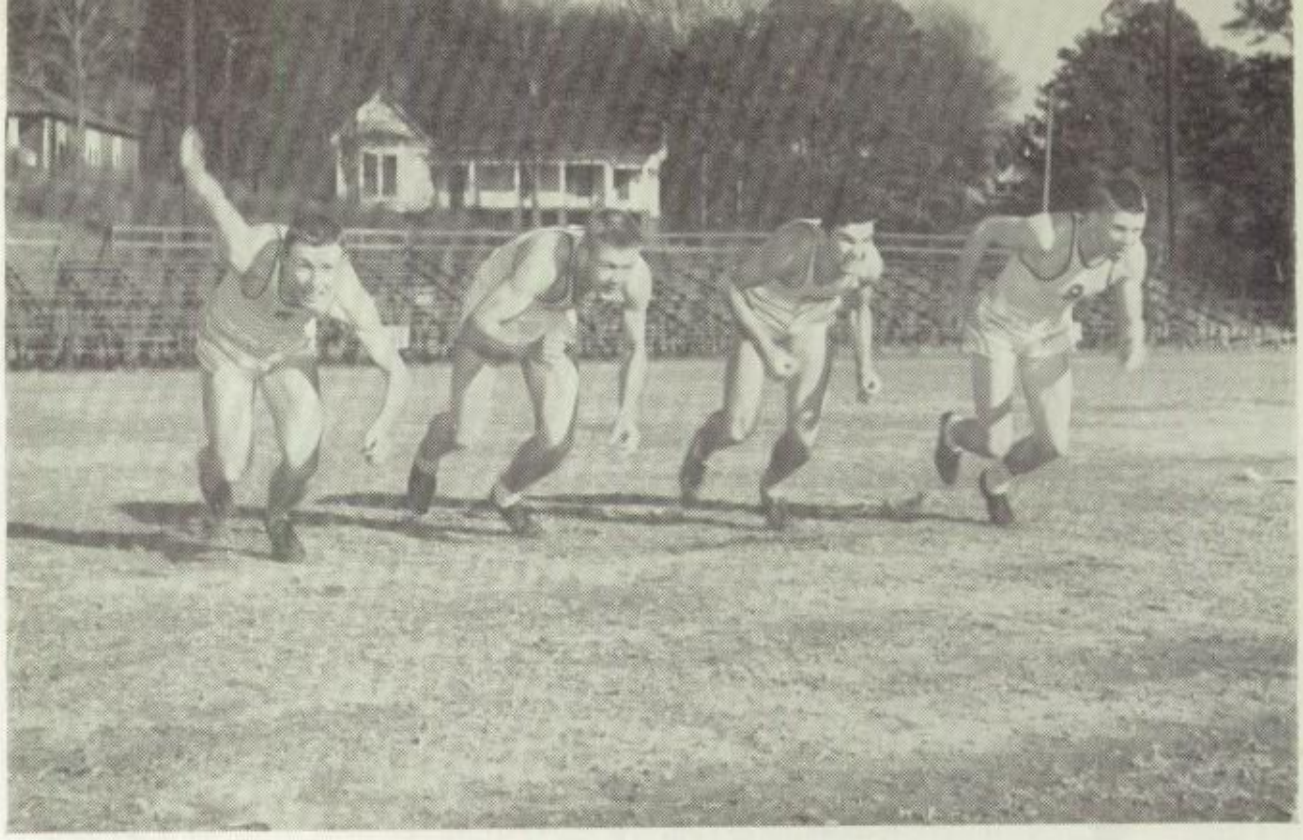
"Jumping" Joe goes up for two more points.

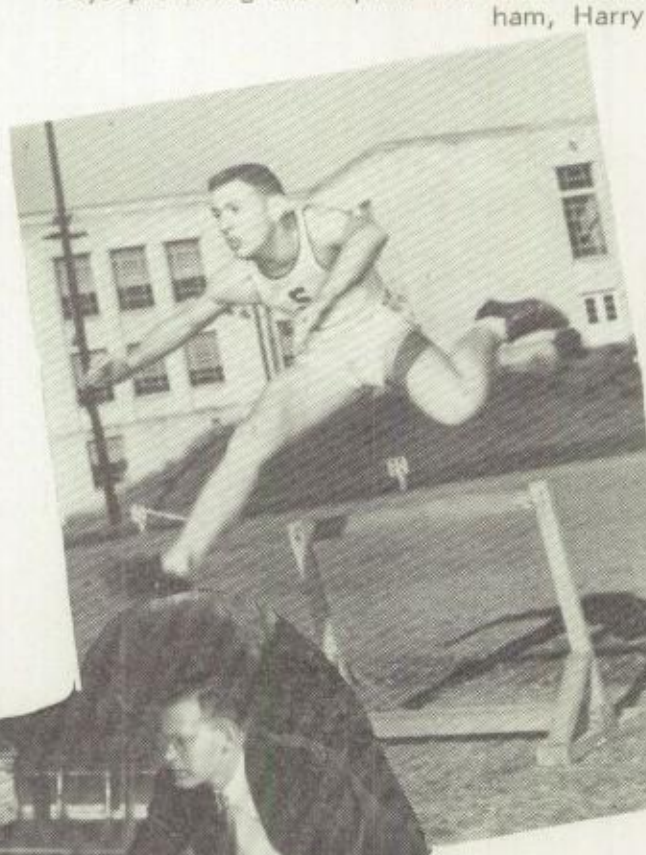
TRACK



Boys practicing their quick start are: John Allen Driver, Gene Cronic, Jerome Woodham, Harry Williams.

One of the oldest sports and one that will never die is track.

Track is as much a body builder as football and basketball. It gives our boys a chance to show their ability in many different fields; such as, sprinting, broad jumping, putting the shot, and many other events.



John Allen Driver has "that form" for jumping hurdles.

Clyde Finley and Othell Knight look on as Coach Hunnicutt places Lewis Price in position to put the shot.

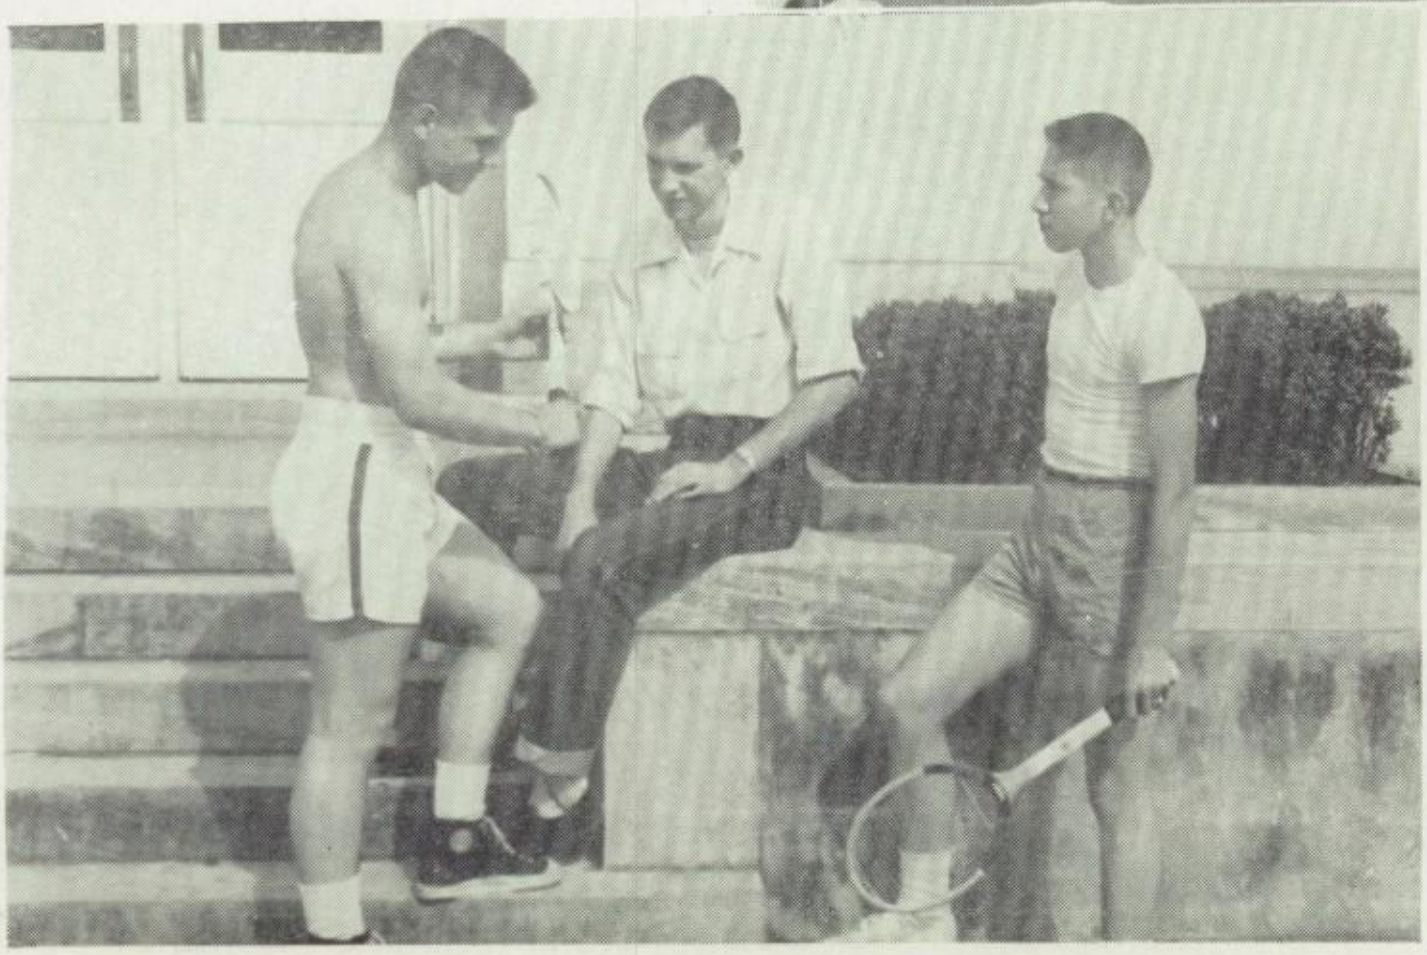
Coach Parker gives instructions about the starting position of a runner to: Sydney Maddox, Gene Cronic, Sydney Tate, Jerome Woodharn, Harry Williams.

GOLF

Golf is no game that can be learned in a day. It takes lots of practice to make that little white ball go straight down the fairway. These boys were good enough to win the challenged games and become the golf team: Ned Edge, Glenn Conway, Pete Bishop, John Stewart.

The golf team watches Coach Mariotti as he demonstrates the hold and position of putting.

TENNIS



In the spring a young man's fancy turns to thoughts of—tennis. LH.S. was filled with tennis talent from which to choose its team. Bill Price, Joe Copeland, and Guy Carter came out as top men.

HOME COOKED MEALS

MRS. GORDON COOK

Now, we have reached the last page of our memory book, and we are happy to present to you your copy of the GRANGER for 1951. We have "harvested, assorted, and prepared" for you this summary of a memorable school year with the hopes that you will always treasure it, and that it may serve to fill the quiet need of many of your future days. May each of you sing with us, the combined staffs of the GRANGER, as we paraphrase the old song which shall live forever:

"Memories, memories, dreams of L. H. S. In our store of memories they'll always be the best,
High School days, happy days, among our books and friends,
Though we part from you, we'll ne'er forget you,
In our beautiful memories."
